FAQ

Q1: What is the difference between a general partnership and a limited partnership for tax purposes?

A1: While both are treated as pass-through entities for tax purposes, meaning income and losses are passed through to the partners' individual returns, the key difference lies in the liability of the partners. General partners have unlimited personal liability for partnership debts, while limited partners' liability is limited to their capital contribution. This distinction doesn't directly impact the calculation of taxes but significantly impacts personal risk exposure.

Q2: How are guaranteed payments treated for tax purposes?
